Reporting Rules: Species reported must be consistent with the rules laid out here. That is, they must be:

1. Within the reporting area and time period when observed, and
2. Alive, wild, and unrestrained when observed.

The state is divided into east and west by the Pacific Crest Trail, which roughly follows the crest of the Cascade Mountains.

Pelagic reports must be of birds observed beyond an arbitrary distance of 2 miles off shore.

Yard lists include species seen while observer was standing within own property boundaries, but may include birds that were outside those bounds.

- Choose categories of personal interest and report those totals.
- Submit a separate form for each individual reporting.
- Reproduce this form as necessary.
